

About us

Greenwoods & Freehills is a leading tax firm and Australia's largest advisory firm practising exclusively in revenue law.

With offices in Sydney and Melbourne, we act for many of Australia's top 100 organisations across sectors including property, banking & finance, energy & resources, manufacturing and other industries.

As a graduate at Greenwoods & Freehills (G&F), you have the opportunity to specialise in taxation immediately without the need to rotate through other areas. You will work in areas such as corporate structuring, mergers and acquisitions, structured finance, property development, financing of business acquisitions and major capital assets and providing clients with advice in their ongoing taxation affairs.

We offer a friendly and professional culture with continuous learning and development, challenging work, regular client contact and a supportive environment to develop your career.

Our philosophy

We value direct contact between directors, professional staff and clients to ensure the highest standards of technical expertise and the flexibility to deliver creative and commercial solutions for our clients.

Our relationship with Freehills

Freehills is one of Australia's top-tier law firms. Freehills and G&F are separate organisations but enjoy a close and successful business association. Through this relationship, we deliver a seamless approach on complex matters which require first class advisers in the legal and taxation fields.
